

Legal Position

The General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) 2018 impose rules and safeguards on those who hold and process personal data, i.e. data relating to living identifiable individuals.

Deeside Orienteering Club (DEE) is committed to protecting and respecting your privacy. DEE is responsible for storing and otherwise processing the personal data you provide for the purposes of your membership in a fair, lawful, secure and transparent way.

How DEE collects your data

You may give DEE information about yourself by filling in forms at an event or online, or by corresponding with DEE by phone, email or otherwise. The data may be obtained directly from an individual or a family member, or indirectly from one of the national orienteering bodies, or indirectly through using an online booking or event management service

DEE may sometimes collect personal data from non-members (as part of event registration or administration, for example).

The DEE website does not use cookies.

The data held

DEE and its officials may hold some or all of the following data about any members and others who compete in orienteering events: name, postal address, email address, telephone numbers, year of birth, gender. The club may also hold details of organisation, planning or coaching experience and relevant qualifications, courses attended and events officiated. Contact data is also held of landowners and other organisations with whom we cooperate, their employees, agents and tenants for the purposes of event organisation. Orienteering-related photographs may also be held. The data may be held in electronic or paper form.

It may sometimes be necessary to collect personal health data for safety purposes at training events or competitions. This information will be kept separately and like other data, only with your consent and only for the time it is needed.

How DEE uses the data

The data is used in organising the sport of orienteering and for social purposes within the club, including but not limited to: distribution of newsletters, club information and details of competitions and events, coaching, team selection, training and appointment of officials. DEE does not pass your personal data to third parties outside the club, unless required for legal or insurance purposes.

How long DEE will keep the data

DEE will hold your personal data on file for as long as you are a member. In order to comply with the requirements of British Orienteering insurance, the data DEE holds about event participants will be stored for five years.

Additional safeguards

If you do not wish to receive mailings (by email, post or other means) or other non-administrative communications from DEE , or do not wish photographs of yourself or your children to be published, or you believe that the data held by DEE about you is incorrect, please contact the Membership Secretary.

Please note

Website: Only club officials' telephone and email addresses are listed on the website.

Social media: The club has a public Facebook page, a private Facebook group, and a private Yahoo group which all members are free to join. As part of how the club develops and maintains its presence online for the purpose of promoting events and the club, these groups and sites are used to provide information.

Please note that the providers of social media platforms have their own privacy policies and that the club does not accept any responsibility or liability for these policies.
